Mono County Public Health Invites Residents to Take Well-Being Survey

- As part of a Community Health Needs Assessment process, Mono County Public Health is inviting residents to take a Well-Being Survey. Mono County is dedicated to making our community healthier, happier, and stronger.
- The Survey lets people in our community share their thoughts about different parts of feeling good and staying healthy. The County wants to learn more about what people need and what problems they face by asking residents directly. This will help to better plan for the future and make decisions that can help our communities.
- The Well-Being Survey is available online in English at <http://monocountysurvey.org/> and in Spanish at <http://encuestadelcondadodemono.org/>. In addition to the online survey, printed copies will be available at various locations throughout the county for those who prefer a non-digital option.
